

I am writing in regards to the potential change to LPFM broadcasting. I am opposed to these changes because I understand it may change the listening status of my family's favorite radio station, "Airl", making it unavailable in our area. Airl offers my children & me a positive alternative to the other "pop" music garbage now polluting the airwaves in our area. It offers music with a positive and uplifting message of hope that few other stations do. Many of my teenage sons' friends also listen regularly, as do the youth of our church. It has helped to shape their minds and hearts to focus on relationships and issues outside themselves, and makes them more positive and productive members of society. If Airl is removed from our area, our kids would then be limited to listening only to their CD collection, or resort to the offerings of the standard pop/rock radio stations, which offer little but promiscuous sexual content and negative and harmful messages about relationships and life.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Kathy Shrout
